Seasoned Assisted Living Executive Perry Phillips is Tapped to Lead The Saybrook at Haddam

Perry Phillips joins The Saybrook at Haddam as its new executive director to oversee the planning, direction, and implementation of all programs and policies of the senior living community now celebrating its 10th year of successful operation.

“Perry comes to our community with lots of great experience, creativity, and energy, and we are happy to have him as part of our ‘family’,” said Joe Irving, Senior Director at of Assisted Living at MCAP Sabine Point LLC. “We are lucky to have him share his 20 years of experience with us!”

Before joining The Saybrook at Haddam, Phillips was executive director at The Residence at Brookside in Avon, at the new Masonicare at Mystic, and at Mulberry Gardens in Southington. He also was an administrator at Village at East Farms in Waterbury. In each of these roles, he managed talented teams, oversaw daily operations, played a role in new buildings and/or expansions of services, and generally worked to create exceptional environments for senior citizens.

“I feel privileged to have built a career working with seniors because they have taught me so much over the years,” said Phillips. “I encourage all residents to share their wisdom. In fact, my relationship with residents has filled the void of not having known my own grandparents. This has been the most rewarding and important part of my career.”

Phillips said part of the reason he was drawn to The Saybrook at Haddam is the full daily activity calendar, and he looks forward to taking part in many of the events. In particular, he is eager to show off his skills as a blackjack dealer. He also plans to organize a pool tournament among residents, staff and even family members to take full advantage of the beautiful billiards room.

Perry lives in Mansfield, home of the UCONN Huskies, with his wife, Jill. They have two grown children, Eric and his wife Rachel who live in Boston, MA, and Elizabeth who lives in Manchester, CT.

As the Executive Director, Phillips will also ensure the efficient and effective administration and execution of the company business plan as well as be responsible for marketing and public relations activities to maintain occupancy goals, including the evaluation and admission process. He also ensures resident satisfaction and achievement of realistic care plan goals, including the coordination of all resident service activities. His additional duties include overseeing the hiring, training, and scheduling of community staff.
